

MORNING APPEAL.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1878

GEN. CONNOR AS A CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

On all sides we hear expressions of approval of the MORNING APPEAL's suggestion of the nomination of Gen. P. E. Connor as the Republican candidate for Governor. It is widely believed that his name and presence would arouse the enthusiasm of the Republicans of Nevada as nobody else yet named would do. Connor is a real, live, hero. He has been a soldier all his life—when soldiering was in order. When a lad, in Texas, he joined the patriot forces and fought for the independence of that Republic. When the Mexican war broke out he hastened to enlist. He fought until the triumph of the American arms was ensured. He came to California in the early days. When the war of the rebellion broke out he had a contract to build the new Capitol in Sacramento. He procured the passage of a bill annulling that contract in order that he might take arms in defense of the Union. He raised a regiment and marched to Utah. The Mormon authorities met him near Salt Lake City and warned him not to enter there. He replied, "my orders direct me to march into your city and into your city I will go." Suing the action to the word, he marched into the Mormon capital. Brigham Young, determined to harass him, put some of his soldiers in jail. The General asked that his men be released. Brigham quibbled and held the men in custody. Connor trained a battery of guns upon The Lion House and sent word to the Latter Day Chieftain that he would rattle his house about his ears if the men were not released. Discretion being the better part of a Danite's valor, Brigham set free the soldiers, instantly. Brigham issued an edict against prospecting for the precious metals in Utah; Connor promulgated a general order to his men that they might, when not on duty, prospect when and where they pleased! The action rendered possible the opening of the vast and valuable mineral resources of Utah. And this is the manner of man whom we nominate for the standard bearer of the Republican hosts in the coming election. With Connor for Governor and Jones for Senator, who can prevail against us? The fight is against "The rebel Democracy." Connor, like a true soldier, simplifying the issue, thus states the case. What our party needs is the fire of enthusiasm. Connor, as we believe, can awake that fire as no other man in our ranks can do. He deserves the highest honors that Nevada can bestow. Let the Republican party, rising above personal aims, place his name at the head of its ticket for the pending campaign, and if victory is possible it is possible under his leadership.

Naches, the ex-chief of the Pintes, is said to have joined the hostiles and gone with the Bannocks upon the warpath. We don't believe it. Sarah Winnemucca is regarded as a spy. She has been "pressed into the service" by General Howard. The General ought to be ashamed of himself. Sarah once married an army officer at Salt Lake. Very fond of the flowing bowl is she. She is, moreover, as able-bodied a liar as we have ever seen in the ranks of the softer and redder skinned sex. It is thought that the Bannocks will make a stand at Stein's Mountain and give battle there.

THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL was fought on Breed's Hill, Charlestown, Massachusetts, one hundred and three years ago yesterday. "Here," said an impressive Bostonian eulogist to a Missourian, pointing to Bunker Hill monument, "here is where Warren fell." "The hell!" exclaims Pike looking to the top of the tall granite shaft, "it must have broke his doggone neck!"

The Deadwood, Black Hills court, has just disposed of three of its most interesting murderers. They get various terms of imprisonment. "Hanging is played out" in Dakota Territory. Rather it has not been in—there being no capital punishment statute there.

Chas. A. Wetmore, the greatest man that ever was produced by the necessities of an epoch, has gone to France to represent the California wine growers. When he reports he will out Stanley Stanley and cover himself with glory as with an umbrella!

Chas. Sommers, a negro who stabbed a prostitute at Omaha, was shot and killed by city Marshal Butler of that place, on Saturday. Butler tried to arrest him and he drew a knife whereupon the marshal shot him in the neck.

The Kearneyites had a torch-light procession in San Francisco on Saturday night. They turned out about 3,000 strong, many of their number being boys. This, it strikes us, is rather a feeble showing.

The wanton murder of negro miners at Coal Creek, Indiana, is resumed. It was begun some weeks since. John Kelly a white miner constituted himself a committee of one to do the shooting.

Levi Parsons, of San Francisco Bulkhead fame, has sued the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R. to compel his own appointment as a Director.

Governor Noyes, U. S. Minister to France, has arrived at New York. He comes to testify before the Potter Commission.

THE BANNOCKS.

The Silver State of Saturday tells the following story of Indian violence:

Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, through from Silver City, arrived here yesterday afternoon. Two messengers, E. B. Tage and William Moody, and a helper named Robert Bruce, came through with the express. They found the remnants of the stage burned near the Owyhee last Monday, and brought in the locks of seven mail bags which the Indians had destroyed. No trace of McCutchen the driver was found, and it is supposed that the Indians took him into the hills to torture him to death. Mr. Tage says the scouts, who are accustomed to tracking Indians, and to estimate their numbers from the trails they make, thought the number of ponies could not be less than three hundred. All the stations from the Owyhee to McDermitt having been abandoned and the stock driven off or strayed away, they drove over sixty miles with one team. The Bannocks went in a southerly direction from where they burned the stage.

GENERAL SHERMAN is a sort of enfant terrible. He is just as likely to put to confusion his friends and supporters as to lend them aid and comfort. We get the following account of him from West Point:

Washington June 15.—The Democrats who have been talking of General Sherman for the Presidency are a little startled by his recent West Point speech, in which he defended President Hayes warmly, declaring that while he appeared to be a mild-mannered man, if the time should come when he would be required to defend his right to his seat he would be found to have the nerve and determination to do it. The General added that the army was sworn to defend the constituted authorities and would do so, and the graduates of West Point were bound by their oaths to protect the Government, of which President Hayes was unquestionably the head. These sentiments were applauded enthusiastically by the alumni, who were gathered from all parts of the Union.

AN IMPORTANT SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—By Sunday's Enterprise we are informed as follows concerning an important suit for damages:

Annie Little, administratrix of William Little, who was run up in the sheaves at the Savage mine on the 19th of last January, has entered an action at law against the Savage Mining Company for $150,000 damages and costs of suit. Nine children, the issue of the plaintiff and the deceased, are still living in Storey county, as follows: John, aged fifteen years; Thomas fourteen; Annie twelve; William eleven; George ten; Patrick nine; Martin six; Celia five, and Mary three. The complaint states that deceased died intestate, and that the estate at the time of his death did not exceed $250. Jonas Seely and William Woodburn are attorneys for the plaintiff.

FREAK OF NATURE.—The Reveille notes a surprising spectacle in the semi-aboriginal way, as follows:

One of a party of Eureka Shoshones, over here in attendance on the big fandango, is a girl about fourteen years of age, whose hair is a regular brick color. In the same party are two or three papposes with light hair, white skins and blue eyes. There is probably something in the fumes from the Eureka smelting furnaces, which thus changes the physical characteristics of the Indians. The red-headed girl has quite a pretty and pleasing countenance, and is as shy as a cotton-tail rabbit.

WATER SPOUT.—Says the Battle Mountain Messenger of Saturday:

We learn from Barney McGarr that on Tuesday, the 11th, there was one of those terrific "water spouts" in the Louis Mountain, in the vicinity of Mill Creek. The water came down that canyon in a sheet ten feet deep and swept everything before it. The McGarr brothers had a fine crop of potatoes, cabbage, etc., all destroyed.

We learn from the Eureka Republican of Saturday, that Miss Annie McHugh, whose name has been erroneously printed McCuen, the young woman who was so horribly chopped by the lunatic Jansen, at Ruby Hill, died on Friday night. She was a native of Ireland, 27 years of age.

Miss L. M. Ormsby, of New York, a graduate of Vassar College, is to take charge of Bishop Whittaker's school for girls.

Twenty-three immigrants to Liberia died on the passage thither. Ship fever was the fatal disorder.

One Hariman has walked 400 miles in 127 hours, 36 minutes and 45 seconds at Haverhill, Mass.

The Ledro Revolution seems to have been pretty much squelched on the Mexican frontier.

John Wasson, formerly of Carson, is reappointed Surveyor General of Arizona.

Edible mushrooms abound near Battle Mountain.

Argenta, Humboldt county, wants a school district.

Congress will adjourn to-day.
